

How does it feel when someone takes advantage of another person or situation in a way that isn't fair?

Just because you can,
doesn't mean
you should.

What are some common things people can do but they probably shouldn't?

Have you ever done something that seemed great at the time, but realized later was irresponsible?
