

Making mistakes is part of growing up.
Just try to make the kind your family can laugh about over holiday dinner.

What kind of stories does your family tell about youthful mistakes?

When is a time you didn't anticipate how your action might impact someone else or your relationship with them?

What's a mistake you wish you'd made, or a chance you wish you had taken?

